Murray county officers arrested him early this morning and said that they were connected with thefts of automobile tires and gasoline in this county. They had been staying at Falls Falls, a resort in the Arkansas mountains two miles southwest of Davis. Their lavish expenditure of money drew the attention of the officers.

When first arrested no connection with the Millerton robbery was disclosed, but McCullough county officials notified and positively identified the men as the bandits who were taken to Idabel, where they will be tried.

No Chance To Bluff New Muskogee "Cop" Who Has Waded Blood

Special to The World.

MUSKOGEE, Aug. 18.—Patroline Lucy Roberts, one of the policemen of the new regime, isn't worrying much about getting "heat-up."

A number of men one night last week stopped him on the corner of Second street and Broadway and attempted to induce him to turn in his badge and join the ranks of the striking police.

When the men were surrounded him and asked that he "show his manhood and turn in his badge," Roberts said to have replied:

"Gentlemen, I was in France for over a year trying to show that I was a man. I came back home and took this job to complete my work of showing that I am a man."

"I don't know how many of you fellows have been where I have been in France, but I have walked over more blood there than any of you fellows ever saw. That's only half of it. I'm not going to walk over a little more."

The men, who by this time had gathered around him and backed him up to the building, saw that Roberts meant business, and they all left without in the case and went their ways—a man who witnessed the scene.

PAWHUSKA MAN HELD AS A WHITE SLAVER

Special to The World.

PAWHUSKA, Aug. 18.—Falling in love with a photograph of his sister-in-law and made her his stenographer.

PAWHUSKA, Aug. 18.—Falling in love with a photograph of his wife's younger sister and offering his employment in his office as a stenographer if she would quit a clerking position in a Los Angeles department store and come to him; has thus far proved to be an experimental experiment for John Bowman, a wealthy Pawhuska oil-building contractor and architect.

Bowman is a federal prisoner at the county jail in Los Angeles, Cal., where he is detained awaiting a decision from United States Commissioner Stephen Long whether the warrant of arrest is sufficient to hold him for removal to Oklahoma for violating the Mann white slave act.

Commissioner Long, because a stenographer was not present at any of the first hearings regarding the case which much to his surprise developed a new angle or two, ordered that Miss Pammy Martin, 20 years old, be held until her brother-in-law had fallen in love with her photograph. The Martin and Bowman families were neighbors in Pawhuska many years ago and they were united by marriage when John Bowman married one of the daughters. Pammy Martin then was not in her teens.

Soon after the sister married Pammy and her mother removed to Los Angeles. The mother later went to the man's sister and her late photographs. Soon after this girl testified she received a letter from her brother-in-law. He urged her to come to him at Pawhuska and accept employment as his stenographer. Her testimony was that he offered to pay her fare there and a good salary.

Her story was that Bowman began almost immediately to force his attentions upon her and that while he wanted his love offering at first she readily became reconciled to him. Bowman swore he no longer loved his wife and that he intended to obtain a divorce. She said she sought to avoid him and evade his attentions by going with her mother to Kansas City. She said Bowman followed her and that he persuaded her to go with him on a week's automobile trip. She said she remained at Pawhuska until one day when her sister observed her entering Bowman's bedroom.
